

High-Impact Teaching Workshop

Have Teach Well come to you with our school-based workshop days! We provide a whole-school introductory workshop for teachers and leaders centred on the science of learning, explicit teaching and a suite of high-impact instructional strategies. Working from a robust research base, the High-Impact Teaching Workshop supports schools to embed evidence-based instructional strategies as a whole-school approach.

High-Impact Teaching Workshop

Workshop Details

The Experience

A half-day or full-day workshop, delivered on site at the school, that provides an introduction to / refresher of key principles and practices:

- » A focus on the science of learning, full participation tactics, checks for understanding, and retrieval.
- » Staff action plan to apply techniques into the classroom in the weeks following the workshop.
- » A scheduled school leader call post-workshop to discuss key findings and progress.

Who this workshop is for Schools from across Australia can book the High-Impact Teaching Workshop. We work with both primary and secondary schools and provide video examples from teachers with students of all ages. This workshop is for whole-school staff days or team days (for teachers and school leaders).

Cost

The cost for a school-based workshop day is $6,050 (including GST).

Additional travel costs may apply depending on preferred dates and location.

How cognitive science, practices of master teachers, and individual teaching/learning strategies come together to form high-impact principles of instruction was particularly valuable.
